

Jay Stuckey, "It's Messy Business"

Art, Contemporary art Anna Zorina Gallery , Chelsea Until Saturday October 12 2019

Time Out says

This L.A. artist's paintings take a deep dive into his subconscious, which, given how chock-full it seems to be, should probably hang out a NO VACANCY sign. His scenes — including a street, a public pool and what looks like a Burning Man-type festival — teem with figures, many of them naked, rendered in a childlike hand, though any sense of innocence is nullified by a wide variety of debauched and violent behavior.

Posted: Thursday September 5 2019.